ESCB Research Cluster on Monetary Economics
Sixth Annual Workshop
10-11 October 2022

CALL FOR PAPERS

The sixth annual Workshop of the European System of Central Banks (ESCB) Research Cluster on Monetary Economics will be hosted by Banque de France in Paris on 10-11 October 2022.

Workshop aims and themes

The workshop aims to foster awareness of ongoing policy-relevant studies on monetary economics and to stimulate collaboration across the ESCB. The workshop is open to ESCB researchers only. Both theoretical and empirical contributions are welcome.

Relevant topics include, but are not restricted to:

- challenges for monetary policy in an inflationary environment;
- monetary policy strategies and global liquidity traps;
- transmission, effectiveness and side-effects of monetary policy tools;
- expectation formation and monetary policy communication;
- monetary policy normalisation;
- inequality and central banks;
- the role of agent heterogeneity in the monetary transmission mechanism;
- monetary policy, banks and financial markets;
- interactions among monetary, fiscal, structural and macroprudential policies;
- drivers of actual and expected inflation;
- monetary policy and climate change;
- challenges to monetary policy making in a world of digital currencies;

All accepted papers will be assigned a discussant.

Submissions

ESCB authors are invited to submit a draft paper in PDF format to cluster1escb@banque-france.fr

Please submit papers not yet accepted for publication. The submission deadline is 30 June 2022. Authors of accepted papers will be notified by end of July 2022. ESCB researchers are also welcome to express interest in participating in the workshop as discussants.

Organisers

Roberto Billi (Sveriges Riksbank), Klodiana Istrefi (Banque de France)