Preamble

- Having regard to the statistical tasks of the signing parties pursuant to the respective applicable legal frameworks
- Respecting the independent status of the signing Central Banks
- Acknowledging the relevance of micro data in the area of independent scientific research, policy advices (for example monetary policy or financial stability) and statistics and their importance for international comparisons
- Ensuring privacy and confidentiality of micro data in accordance with the respective applicable legal frameworks under which the data were collected and are stored
- Promoting the G20 Data Gaps Initiative II, in particular recommendation 20, addressing the accessibility of granular data
- Acknowledging and supporting the work on data sharing of the Irving Fisher Committee on Central Bank Statistics
- In the mutual endeavour to further develop the long-standing and trusting cooperative relationship between the signing parties
- Having a reciprocal understanding of the legal, organisational, staffing and financial framework in which the parties operate and with the will to take advantage of existing and potential synergies and the desire to develop, produce and disseminate high-quality statistical data
- Having regard to the United Nations' Fundamental Principles of Official Statistics, international recommendations for upholding the quality of official statistics and best practices

Section 1 Objective

The signing parties do hereby declare their willingness to further strengthen their cooperation on the basis of the self-commitments set out in this Memorandum of Understanding and, in light of the multiple challenges facing official statistics, to press ahead with the said cooperation in the area of granular data statistics in an effective and forward-looking manner.

Section 2 Definitions

For the purposes of this Memorandum of Understanding the following definitions shall apply:

- (1) Micro data are data at the level of individual reporters or at a low level of aggregation that may lead to the identification of individual reporting units.
- (2) Anonymised micro data are transformed micro data that do not allow the identification of individual reporting units (complete anonymisation) or micro data that can only be traced to their source with a disproportionately large amount of time, costs and labour (de facto anonymisation).
- (3) Granular data cover less aggregated data than traditional statistics (e.g. finer breakdowns of aggregates in traditional statistics), anonymised micro data and micro data.

Section 3 Subject and scope of the cooperation: The International Network of Exchanging Experiences on Statistical Handling of Granular Data (INEXDA)

- (1) The signing parties establish the International Network of Exchanging Experiences on Statistical Handling of Granular Data (INEXDA).
- (2) INEXDA will provide a basis for exchanging experiences on the statistical handling of granular data which are accessible to users external to the signing parties. 'Statistical handling' covers issues such as the accessibility of data and metadata, techniques for statistical analysis of granular data and includes procedures for confidentiality and security of data and procedures for output control.
- (3) INEXDA will provide a framework for investigating possibilities to harmonise access procedures and metadata structures, to develop comparable structures for existing data and to further foster efficiency of statistical work with granular data.
- (4) The overall aim is to facilitate the international use of granular data (as defined in paragraphs 2 and 3) for analytical, research and comparative purposes without jeopardizing and always subject to the respective applicable confidentiality regimes.

Section 4 Organisation and working arrangements

- (1) Members of INEXDA are senior level representatives of the signing parties.
- (2) They will meet at least annually.

- (3) The parties agree on a chair of INEXDA for a two year term on a consensual basis. After two years, the chair shall be passed to another party. The outgoing chair will assist the new chair at the beginning of the new chairmanship if needed.
- (4) The chair is responsible for organizing the annual meeting, the coordination of the activities and a draft report at the end of the chairmanship, which has to be agreed on a consensual basis.
- (5) The members of INEXDA will exchange information in a comprehensive manner on the fields in which cooperation is pertinent under this agreement (as agreed in the work programme referred to in paragraph (6) below) and will have open discussions. The information is shared for purely internal uses of the signing parties (exceptions need to be agreed unanimously).
- (6) INEXDA will elaborate a work program which needs to be agreed on a consensual basis.
- (7) The work will be performed at the operational levels of the signing parties.
- (8) INEXDA will allow for (pilot) projects of some members. These members will report on their experience within the framework of INEXDA.
- (9) Actual exchange and use of data, which come under the respective applicable confidentiality regimes, are not covered by this Memorandum of Understanding. Progress in some areas (e.g. granular data sharing) may need additional arrangements (e.g. legal contracts). INEXDA will aim to deliver mutually agreeable suggestions. It is at the discretion of the individual parties to decide whether to enter into such additional arrangements. Continuing membership of INEXDA does not depend on entering into such additional arrangements.
- (10) The first chair of INEXDA is Stefan Bender, Head of the Research Data and Service Center of the Deutsche Bundesbank.

Section 5 Costs

The parties shall not charge each other any costs under this agreement.

Section 6 Amendments

- (1) The signing parties encourage other central banks, national statistical institutes and international organisations to join INEXDA and sign this Memorandum of Understanding.
- (2) An application to join INEXDA shall be expressed in a letter signed by the head of the statistical department (in case of national statistical institutes: the head of the responsible statistical department) of the respective institution to the chair of INEXDA. Any application by a new institution to join INEXDA and sign this Memorandum of Understanding must be agreed by all parties.

(3) If so requested by any party, but in any event no later than five years after the date it is entered into, the parties shall mutually review this Memorandum of Understanding and amend it as appropriate.

(4) Any extension or amendment of this Memorandum of Understanding has to be agreed by all participating parties.

(5) This Memorandum of Understanding (together with an up-to-date list of all parties to it) is a public document. The signing parties will publish it on their individual websites.

Section 7 Termination

(1) This Memorandum of Understanding is unlimited in duration.

(2) Any party may terminate their participation in this Memorandum of Understanding by giving one year's notice by sending a signed letter to the chair of INEXDA who will distribute this letter to all members.

Section 8 Final provisions

(1) This Memorandum of Understanding has been drawn up in duplicate. Each party shall receive one copy and confirm receipt thereof.

(2) This Memorandum of Understanding shall enter into force on the date of its execution.

(3) This Memorandum of Understanding is not intended to be legally binding.

The extension of the Memorandum of Understanding on the International Network of Exchanging Experiences on Statistical Handling of Granular Data (INEXDA) is necessary, as the European Central Bank (hereinafter "ECB") and the Banco de España (hereinafter "BdE") shall join the network. In accordance with Section 6 paragraph 2 of the Memorandum of Understanding, an application to join INEXDA was made by the ECB in a letter signed by the Director General Statistics Aurel Schubert on 12. October 2017. Likewise, an application to join INEXDA was made by the BdE in a letter signed by the Statistical Director Juan Peñalosa on 20. December 2017. The applications of both the ECB and the BdE (hereinafter "the signing parties") were agreed by all parties of the Memorandum of Understanding listed above. With this extension, each of the signing parties declares its willingness to join INEXDA and to sign the Memorandum of Understanding.

Section 1 Joining of INEXDA

- (1) Each of the signing parties hereby joins the International Network of Exchanging Experiences on Statistical Handling of Granular Data (INEXDA) and signs the Memorandum of Understanding between Banca d'Italia, Banco de Portugal, Bank of England, Banque de France and Deutsche Bundesbank regarding the establishment of INEXDA.
- (2) Each of the signing parties agrees to the provisions laid down in the Memorandum of Understanding.
- (3) Each of the signing parties will join INEXDA at the same time. Notwithstanding the contemporaneous accession, pursuant to Section 6 paragraph 2 of the Memorandum of Understanding, each of the signing parties agrees to the aforementioned application of the respective other signing party to join INEXDA and sign the Memorandum of Understanding.

Section 2 Final Provisions

- (1) Each of the signing parties shall receive one copy of the Memorandum of Understanding with this Extension and confirm receipt thereof.
- (2) This Extension of the Memorandum of Understanding shall enter into force on the date of its execution.
