

Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC)

Retail component

With the increasing digitalization of transactions and the development of new technologies, digital currency has become a major issue for many central banks around the world in recent years.

This first webinar in English, simultaneously translated into French, details the digital euro project under construction: why? how? where do we stand? what are the next steps?

Nota Bene Another webinar on the digital euro will be held in December, while a webinar on the wholesale aspect of central bank digital currency will be held in September. More information on the IBFI Events calendar.
